Militants score plan to sell coco tillers' shares in SMC

By Norberto Bernardino
and Corina Padilla

A MILITANT farmers' group yesterday criticized the government over its reported plan to sell the San Miguel Corp. and United Coconut Planters Bank shares that had been bought with coconut levy funds.

The Kilusang Magbubukang Pilipinas said the fund now estimated at P130 billion belonged to the coconut farmers who had fought to recover it.

"This is a most cowardly and treacherous act against the small coconut farmers who had fought long and hard to regain the coco levy funds. Now the first act of President Macapagal-Arroyo in the new year is to betray them," said Willy Macabebe, KMP spokesman.

Macabebe said the administration's purported plan to sell the coco levy shares to generate much-needed funds for the government revealed his Arroyo's intent to control the fund.

"No wonder that of the killings (were) committed in front of the small farmers but what (the President was) plotting all along (was) to seize the more than P130-billion coco levy fund for himself on the pretext that it would be used for the ailing economy," Macabebe said.

Macabebe said.

Ateneo de Manila party-list Rep. Rafael Mariano, himself a former KMP leader, said the coco levy fund should be returned to the coconut farmers instead of being used for agricultural reform purposes as proposed by some officials.

He has proposed a bill creating a trust fund for the benefit of the small coconut farmers and the rehabilitation of the coconut industry.

In the still unenacted bill, Mariano called for the establishment of a "Genuine Small Coconut Farmers' Fund for the Rehabilitation and Development of the Coconut Industry."

"The GSEFIDOC shall not be a part of the general fund of the national government and shall be used exclusively for the rehabilitation and development of the coconut industry and the uplift of the lives of those dependent on it," Mariano said.

Last December, the Senate approved the government's proposal to grant the government control over the 37 percent in SMC shares worth at least P50 billion.

The senatorial move also affirmed its decision granting the government control over 71.2 percent of UCPB also in the hands of the small coco farmers.

The Supreme Court had earlier ruled that the coconut levy funds were public funds.

Under the Mariano bill, the UCPB shall retain the financing and investment arm of the coconut industry "in order to ensure reasonable returns for such portions of the funds capitalized for investment ventures..."

In Iloilo City, a coconut farmer leader asked Macabebe to utilize the 37-percent bloc of shares in SMC for the rehabilitation of calamity-stricken areas in northern Quezon instead of selling it to raise funds for the cash-strapped government.

Clara Talaga, also a former Quezon board member, said the coco levy fund belonged entirely to the coconut farmers.

"There are no 'his' and 'hers' shares here. But since it is disposed of by the government, we're afraid the stake proceeds will be siphoned back to the national treasury with the deficits of coconut farmers building the empty bag," Talaga said.

On Saturday, Macabebe hinted at a plan to sell the 37 percent interest in SMC to help the government wriggle out of the financial crisis. With Dwight T. Maloria Jr., PDI Supervisor Leonor Bernal

Kiko: Special session won't see bills passed

By Christine O. Avendaño

SENATE Majority Leader Francis "Kiko" Pangilinan yesterday said he did not expect Congress to approve any tax measures during the three-day special session called by Macapagal on Jan. 3-5.

But Pangilinan said the three extra session days would still be beneficial to the senators as this would "give us the momentum to hit the ground running."

"(The extra session days) would also give us leeway before we tackle the budget bill," said Pangilinan in a phone interview.

Macapagal called for the special session in order to get at least one more tax measure of the eight proposed by President Macapagal-Arroyo passed. Only the increased excise tax on alcohol and tobacco products has been passed by both houses of Congress.

The Senate is pushing for the approval of all the eight tax measures in order to generate P80 billion in revenues for the government.

Pangilinan said the special session at most would see senators putting the Raising Duties to Two from Tax Measures.

These are the Internal Revenue Act and the proposed to limit exemptions from the Value-Added Tax which is also being proposed to be increased from 10 to 12 percent.

The Senate majority leader said he expects senators to be able to complete floor deliberations on the Internal Revenue bill which would give special incentives to government officials and personnel to perform well or retire early.

"The Internal Revenue bill might be passed the week after (the special session) or the week after," Pangilinan said.

Christians assure GMA of support

By Maricar S. Rivera

THE COUNTRY'S Christian bloc, representing 20,000 churches nationwide, has assured President Macapagal-Arroyo of its support and affirmed its faith in the government.

The Philippine Council of Evangelical Churches (PCEC), a group often wooed by politicians for support, urged Filipinos to back the government's efforts at unity following the tragedies that marked the past year.

In his New Year message, PCEC national director Bishop Edwin Tensera said Filipinos should move into 2005 with faith in what God can do for the nation through individuals and the government.

"Let us labor together towards uniting the Filipino people. Upholding our fundamental spirit and our faith in the Almighty God, let us work hard in hand with everyone in rebuilding our nation. Let us continue to support President Macapagal-Arroyo as she leads our country," Tensera said.

He said 2004 was a crucial time for the country because of the "alarming degree of disunity brought about by one of the most bitterly contested presidential elections."

Aside from the political disunity, Tensera recalled the fiscal crisis and super typhoons that hit the Philippines last year.

"As we face yet another year of uncertainty and continue to feel the brunt of last year's devastations, it is easy for us to get overwhelmed by a sense of hopelessness and to lose our sense of destiny," Tensera said.

"It is thus necessary that we turn to God and on what He can do in our individual lives and in our life as a nation. We can have hope and be bearers of hope," he said.

Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate variability (HRV) of young adults. The subjects were 15 male and 15 female college students. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group and a training group. The training group performed a 10-week training program consisting of aerobic and anaerobic exercises. The HRV was measured at the beginning and at the end of the training program. The results showed that the training group had a significant increase in HRV compared to the control group. The increase in HRV was more pronounced in the male subjects than in the female subjects. The results suggest that a 10-week training program can improve the HRV of young adults.

Abbas gets hero's welcome in Gaza Strip

YASSER ARAFAT, the 75-year-old Palestinian leader, arrived in Gaza on Friday, greeted by thousands of cheering Palestinians. Arafat, who has been in exile since 1994, was welcomed by a large crowd of supporters, including many young people, who waved Palestinian flags and shouted slogans. Arafat, dressed in a dark suit, was seen smiling and waving to the crowd as he made his way through the streets of Gaza.

The arrival of Arafat in Gaza was a significant moment for the Palestinian people, who have long looked to him as a symbol of resistance and leadership. His presence in the Gaza Strip, which has been under Israeli occupation since 1967, was seen as a sign of renewed hope and solidarity. Arafat's visit was part of a larger effort to strengthen the Palestinian Authority and its ties to the international community.

As Arafat made his way through the streets, he was surrounded by a sea of people. Many of the young people in the crowd were waving Palestinian flags, and some were holding up portraits of Arafat. The atmosphere was one of joy and celebration, with people shouting slogans and cheering for their leader. Arafat's visit was a testament to his enduring popularity and the deep desire for peace and self-determination among the Palestinian people.
